There seems to be great danger that Canada will be plunged into the vortex of an industrial revolution just at the moment when the best brains of manufacturers and workers should have been brought together in order that Canada might successfully bridge the space between war and peace called the reconstruction period.

But unfortunately our workers are being led by the nose by the agitator and socialist stumper, and the better reason and common sense of the majority has beer stampeded by the misrepresentations of those whose only occupa ion is to agitate.

As the matter stands to-day it would be a safe bet to wager that not five per cent of the workers who are out on strike know what hey are really striking for,

We want to see the workers get what is coming to them, but ust now would like to know just what it is they want.

Seems to us that this is another case of getting together---the employers and employees---with the

"Bassano is dead, and, argue as we might, it must be confessed that, though perhaps not exactly dead, Bassano has been so long in a state of coma, that her condition might truthfully be described as moribund.

We need so many things that it is hard to choose which is the more important, but there is one thing which should be taken up without delay and that is the erection of a Public Hall. If, at seems to be the case, this cannot be secured through private enterprise, then there is nothing else for it but to start upon a community

Grossmith Night Huge COWBOY Success

The visit of Leslie Grossmith will be long remembered in Bassano as the greatest artistic treat we have been fortunate enough to secure for years.

program to its close Grossmit alternately held his large audience spellbound by the artistry of his playing and convulsed them with unrestrained amusement by his genius as a comedian.

His interpretations of the classics of Mendellsohn and Chopin were sandwiched between characterisa-tions of the London Bobby and the ubiquitous Coster, garnished with exceptionally humorous monol and the whole program afforded a feast such as Bassano has seldom been offered.
